WESTERFIELD'S CHARMED LIFE

Manilla Man, Named After George Washington, Has Had Many Narrow Escapes.

FACED DEATH SEVERAL TIMES

But Always Succeeded in Eluding the Grim Visitor in All the Accidents.

There seems to be some sort of a charm or rather a legion of guardian angels that care for the Manilla man who escaped being killed last Saturday when a child fired a pistol point blank at the man and the bullet struck his watch chain, severing it, but glancing off and doing no more injury to him other than a slight flesh wound. It was not Byron Westerfield as was stated, but George Washington Westerfield.

He has had many narrow escapes from death and in this respect his life bears a striking resemblance to the charmed life of the illustrious statesman and soldier after whom he was named. Westerfield is a widower and lives alone. He owns a large farm and it has been the scene of many close "shaves" from shaking hands with the death angel in a final grip.

Once a heavy log rolled on Westerfield's body and it was thought for a time he would die. Another time he shot himself through the hand while cleaning an old revolver. The next narrow escape he had was when a revolver was discharged in his hip pocket, but fortunately did little damage. He almost choked to death once when a large piece of meat lodged in his throat. Last summer he fell off a roller and escaped with a broken leg and three broken ribs. Later he was dragged across a field by a fractions cow and his head caught in a barb wire fence, almost severing one of his ears.

Westerfield's friends are of the opinion that he will never die an unnatural death and when the report of an accident become current in Manilla it is a natural question for one to inquire if Westerfield was badly injured.

ASK TO USE PHONE THEN STOLE CLOCK

Bold Work of Two Thieves Today in a North Arthur Street Home.

QUICK WORK OF OFFICER PEA

Officer Pea had a hurry up call late this afternoon. A woman living on North Arthur street complained that two young men who came into her house, ostensibly to use the telephone, stole a clock off the mantel. She gave a description of the two men. In less than fifteen minutes Officer Pea had the men corralled at the Big Four depot where they had purchased tickets to Milroy, where they said they lived. The clock was returned to the woman.

An electric railroad to about 10,000 feet is being built on the Zugspitze, Bavaria, the highest peak of the Alps. It will run to the summit, and at the 7,000-foot level a hotel will be built.

The charitable people of London have formed a union to see that the money given them is properly spent.

WILL SEE THEIR SHADOWS

And Their Great Grandmother When They Eat Ground Hog.

An innovation in dinners commemorative of some event will be the service accorded a number of friends by Cumberland Ridlin of St. Paul, on February 2, Ground Hog Day. The event marks the passage of a mile stone in Mr. Ridlin's life, and his guests will be those who first saw the light of day February 2. A ground hog will be served with all accessories prepared as only Mr. Ridlin and estimable wife know how.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES AT AN OLD AGE

Mrs. Rebecca Smelser Reached the Ripe Old Age of Ninety-Three Years.

LEFT STEP DAUGHTER HERE

Mrs. Emerson Hineman of East Sixth street was called to Monticello yesterday to attend the funeral of her stepmother, Mrs. Rebecca Smelser, widow of the late B. D. Smelser, who died at the home of Mrs. Matt Cowan. The interment will occur at Crawfordville tomorrow. Mrs. Smelser was 93 years of age and formerly lived in Rushville.

MANY INTERESTS ARE REPRESENTED

Breeders Meet in Indianapolis to Listen to Papers and Lectures.

RUSH COUNTY REPRESENTED

The program for the annual meeting for 1909 of the Congress of Indiana Industrial and Breeders' Association, which began today in Indianapolis, has just been distributed. The congress includes in its membership the Indiana Hereford Breeders' Association, the Indiana Jersey Cattle club, the Indiana Short Horn Breeders' Association, the Indiana Hog Record Association, the Indiana Swine Breeders' Association, the Mutual Insurance Companies' Union of Indiana, the Indiana Lize Stock Breeders' Association and the Indiana Corn Growers' Association.

Rush county will be well represented at the meeting.

WILL ASSIST AT EARLHAM

Rushville Girl Has Taken Place in Big College.

Miss Hulda Wheeler of Rushville will visit her sister, Mrs. Elden Robb, Wednesday, says the Greenfield Star. Miss Wheeler will be on her way to Earlham College, where she has taken a position as Assistant Instructor of Music for the next three months, during the absence of the regular assistant, who is studying in Europe.

Vinegar will successfully clean a dirty, powder-caked gun barrel.

FIFTY DOLLARS IN GOLD GRATIS

To the Person Making the Largest Purchases of the Rushville Merchants.

REPUBLICAN'S NEW CONTEST

Will be Found Interesting as Well as Profitable to Those Trading Here.

In order to stimulate the buying from Rushville merchants, the Daily Republican will give fifty dollars in gold to the persons making the largest cash purchases in this city from January 18th to May 15th. Blank receipt forms will be published daily in the Republican and these must be signed by the merchants from whom the purchases are made. It is necessary that the purchases be made from merchants who carry an advertisement in the Daily Republican, a space of four inches or more on the day the purchase is made.

A ban is placed on single purchases that would run into dollars, and thus eliminate the spirit of contest, and for that reason receipts are not good where the party buys vehicles, automobiles, pianos or organs, diamonds or jewelry of more than twenty dollars in value, farming implements or building material.

The fifty dollar prizes will be divided as follows: First, twenty-five dollars; second, fifteen dollars and third, ten dollars. Save your coupons and see how quick they run into a big sum. Cut the receipts out and take them with you when you go shopping; always keep a reserve amount of them on hand. Rules and conditions governing the contest will be found published on the inside pages. Read and you will be interested. The offer is open to everybody, whether they live in Rush county or not.

Who will be Rushville's best patron?

TO INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

Local Odd Fellows Will Initiate Wednesday Night.

The local Odd Fellows will install the newly elected officers for the ensuing year at their regular meeting Wednesday night. One candidate will be initiated in the first degree. The officers are Joe Miller, Noble Grand; Henry Schrader, Vice Grand; R. E. Abernathy, Recording secretary; Alvie E. Newhouse, Financial secretary; Clint Bodine, Treasurer.

MEET IN REGULAR SESSION

County Commissioners Held First Meeting of Year Yesterday.

The county commissioners held their first meeting of the year yesterday. The contract for the Seth Moore road in Rushville township was let to William Avery, of Waldron, Ind. A liquor license was granted to William H. Oneal.

HANDED AN ORANGE.

New Castle Courier: At the conclusion of the morning service at the M. E. church Sunday, Rev. Browne asked the congregation to pass out a certain door and each received a fine orange with the compliments of L. A. Jennings, the commission man.

OBTAINED MONEY ON CLOVER SEED

John Spacey of New Salem Arrested Yesterday For Getting $40 Under False Pretense.

WAS GIVEN TIME TO RETURN IT

Which he Promised to do—Ball & Ball Finally Filed an Affidavit Against Him.

John Spacey, living a short distance north of New Salem, was arrested by Officer Pea and brought before Squire Kratzer late yesterday evening on a charge of obtaining money under false pretense.

On August 26, last, Spacey, while under the influence of liquor, was advanced forty dollars by Ball & Ball on his clover seed which he had agreed to sell them as soon as it was threshed. He claimed at that time that the threshing machine was set at his house, but that the seed could not be threshed for a short time as he was unable to hire help. Milton Carr, who was with Spacey at the time vouched for his good character and swore that all that Spacey had said was true. It later developed that Spacey had never owned or raised any clover seed and that he had merely told the story to get the money at that time.

Ball & Ball gave Spacey time to pay back the money which he promised to do several times, but at last, tiring of promises they filed an affidavit against him which was served yesterday evening.

Arrangements were made by Spacey to pay the money within the next few days. He paid the costs in Squire Kratzer's court and was dismissed.

NO NEW CASES ARE REPORTED TODAY

Smallpox Condition Remains Unchanged. Two Out of 24 Cases Reported Vaccinated.

TWO WILL BE SENT HOME

The smallpox situation remains unchanged, no new cases having been reported today. Mrs. Nelson Brown and son Ulrie will probably be given a bath and sent home tomorrow. They have reached such a condition that they could have been sent home several days ago, but their home had not been fumigated until today. They will remain under quarantine for a short time until it is certain that the other members of the family will not contract the disease.

Out of the twenty-four cases that have been reported up to this time, only two of them had ever been vaccinated, it being done when they were young and certainty as to whether it took. Vaccination is the surest and safest way out of the difficulty.

THE GREENSBURG WAY!

Greensburg News: We have been requested by a lady member of one of our churches to urge the men to attend prayer meetings and especially to make a good start on the new year by attending this week, the week of prayer.

There will be a club supper at the Social club next Friday night.

There are more than 1500 theaters in Europe.

BIG SHIFT ON RAILROAD

General Shaking Up on the Entire Pennsylvania System.

High officials of the Pennsylvania road admit that if all the changes now in view are carried out it will be the biggest shift in the history of the country. It will, it is stated, affect every department of the line both east and west of Pittsburg, from vice president down to division engineers and heads of departments of the main and branch lines. When this will be done is not stated, but it is expected within the next thirty days.

INSTITUTION AT THE POOR FARM

Secretary of County Board of Health Makes a Timely Recommendation.

FOR A CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL

Wherein Malignant Diseases Could be Handled and Patients Completely Isolated.

On account of the recent experience in the smallpox contagion it is thought that a permanent hospital should be established in Rush county for such emergencies, as there is no place where such patients could be confined in event an epidemic prevails. With that end in view, Dr. Frank Green, secretary of the county board of health has recommended to the county commissioners that such a place be founded. The commissioners heard the recommendation but did not take any action. The recommendation follows:

"I wish to recommend that Rush county, Indiana, build on the county farm a contagious hospital, said hospital to be a permanent structure, to be built under proper plans and specifications which shall be passed on by the State Board of Health and the cost of same to be paid from the general tax fund of Rush county, Indiana, and that said hospital shall be for use of any person or persons taking sick in Rush county. The arrangement, size and cost of said building to be decided upon after careful consideration of the board of health which is the county commissioners and such other information as they see fit to obtain."

GREATEST NUMBER OF ORDERS DRAWN

Will be the "Smallpox" Batch City Clerk Gregg is at Work on Today.

FIRST AMOUNT EXCEEDS $2000

City Clerk Grant Gregg is at work on the orders for allowances made by the city council for this month and it is quite a gigantic task. Never before, in the the history of Rushville were there such a large number of orders drawn. The increase is due to the smallpox epidemic that hit here about three weeks ago. The amount for the first payment of bills will be about $2300.

TAKEN AWAY IN YOUNG MANHOOD

Was Clark Mains Who Died Yesterday Evening at 6:30 O'clock of Tuberculosis.

EMPLOYED AT CARMICHAELS'

Until Was Compelled to Resign on Account of Poor Health—Lead Christian Life.

Clark Mains, age 19 years, 5 months and 1 day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mains, quietly passed away at his home in West Tenth street yesterday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Pulmonary tuberculosis is given by the attending physician as the cause of the death.

Mr. Mains was a member of the Main Street Christian church and a very earnest worker in the Sunday school and the Christian Endeavor. He was known by all who were acquainted with him, to be a conscientious young man and to lead a straightforward Christian life.

The disease has gradually been tearing down his system and it seemed only a question of time until death would result. He went to Colorado about one year ago in one last effort to regain his strength. He returned home, his health in no better, if not in worse condition.

The deceased was employed in the J. R. Carmichael dry goods store up until about fifteen months ago, when he had to stop on account of poor health.

The funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. R. W. Abberley of the Main Street Christian church on Wednesday afternoon at the home in West Tenth street. The remains will be buried in East Hill cemetery.

WHAT THE GOVERNOR HAD TO GO AFTER

Will be Published in the Daily Republican From Time to Time, Beginning Friday.

HOME COURSE IN AGRICULTURE

Beginning next Friday the Daily Republican will publish from time to time, a home course in modern agriculture. The series covers eighteen lessons, one to appear each Tuesday and Friday until the course is completed. These articles contain knowledge that is worth many dollars to the farmers, besides they are interesting to the laymen, revealing the magic of chemistry as seen in growing things.

The success of scientific farming with its greatly increased yields has aroused strong interest among farmers throughout the country. So greatly was Governor Deneen impressed with the importance of the subject when he attended the Illinois Corn Show in Springfield recently that he decided to enter the Agricultural school at the University of Illinois to take up the course, as told in the press dispatches. These articles give you at home what the governor gets in college.

CHARGE OF CONTROL.

Greenfield Tribune: Rev. John Montgomery of Rushville, the newly appointed minister for the East Greenfield Heavenly Recruit church, will be here Sunday to take charge of his control.

The small pox scare is about past and people are going to and from Rushville as usual.

The great love feast and rejoicing over the victory by the defense in the noted white capping case which was tried during the last term of court was held at the James McFatrige homestead northwest of Arlington on New Year's day. There were just 132 grown persons at the feast besides a vast number of children. They had an abundant feast and great rejoicing. It is the report that Mr. and Mrs. John B. Tribbey were both called to the feast but neither would go. The hatchet has been buried and Mr. and Mrs. Tribbey are now living together as happily as a newly married couple.

Esq Ball is building a new barn on his farm north west of town. W. A. Hysong and Math Gardner are the contractors.

Wm. Massey has his new house almost ready for occupancy. He will have one of the nicest residences in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Butcher are planning to move to California in the spring. Of course California is a great place and many that go there like the climate—there are many things in Indiana that are ahead of California and even the weather in Indiana sometimes surpasses the climate in the so called land of sunshine, fruit and flowers. We know from experience.

Dr. Hamilton who recently came to Arlington is building up a fine practice.

The I. & C. Traction line had quite an experience Saturday transferring their steam engine from their tracks to the C. H. & D. tracks. They are going to send the engine away for repairs.

Ira Allentharp who recently purchased the noted Freeman fruit farm in Brown county has sold the same and took in exchange a 250 acre farm in Jennings county which is said to be covered with valuable timber. Ira surely is a lucky boy.

Sicily and Calabria

By GEORGE H. PICARD.

APPALLING as it is, the recent calamity which has plunged the Italian peninsula into the deepest sorrow and the remainder of the civilized world into sympathetic horror is nothing especially novel. More than once has it been demonstrated with awful distinctness that Calabria and Sicily are not terra firma. It is a region which has been shaken so frequently and so disastrously by seismic convulsion that it has long ago passed into history as "the home of the earthquake." In ancient times it was the battleground of southern Europe, and even at that early day it was a saying common enough that "the earthquake takes from Calabria that which war has left."

It is a bright and smiling region, a sunlit and fertile land, a country so kindly dealt with by nature that it seems to be man's ideal of everything that constitutes a fit abiding place. In reality it has proved itself to be the most treacherous of earth's beauty spots; as little to be trusted as are the historic Scylla and Charybdis at the entrance to the strait of Messina. It has always been an active center of seismic disturbance of almost every variety. Even before the recent horror it might have claimed the record, for the great Calabrian earthquake which began in 1873 continued for four years.

Great Earthquake Region.

No native of Sicily or the Calabrian mainland ever reaches man's estate in ignorance of the earthquake. With some form of the dreaded upheaval he must become familiar long before he reaches the Scriptural age limit. These manifestations vary in intensity from tremors so slight as to be observed by the most delicate instruments to violent destructive shocks. While the more serious and death dealing blows are felt at intervals so remote as to inspire a sense of security, the slighter manifestations are so constant that it requires years of habit to make them other than premonitory signals of trouble to follow.

It matters not at all to the surviving Calabrian peasant, whose entire interest in the business of living has been cut off suddenly by this abnormal trick of nature which has swept his every living link into oblivion, that science is at hand with its theories of the cause of his misfortunes. It will not revive his hopeless spirit to be told that the blow which has felled him is but another evidence that the foot of the Italian "boot" is sinking into the sea. It is a scientific fact that has been going on for centuries. Like the California earthquake of 1906, the recent Italian disaster was due not to volcanic disturbance, but to the subsidence of the earth's crust, and it is believed by experts that should this settling continue it will be followed by volcanic activity and that the granite hills of Scylla and the greater portion of the mountainous region of the mainland will be submerged.

As for Messina, it has always been a city of tremendous disaster. Long before the Apostle Paul preached his novel evangel in the crowded streets of Syracuse it had known affliction of the deepest. In the fifth century before Christ it was captured by the Greeks, and its inhabitants were subjected to great indignities. In 306 B. C. it was destroyed by the all conquering Carthaginians and was rebuilt by Dionysius, the tyrant of Syracuse. In the following century Hannibal and his Carthaginian hosts again sacked the town. After the fall of paganism it fared not a whit better, for it was taken by the Saracens in 831 and practically destroyed. Two hundred years later it was pillaged by the Normans. In 1749 the plague carried off over 40,000 victims, and forty-three years later an earthquake practically buried the city and its remaining inhabitants. As late as 1848 it was nearly wiped off the map by a bombardment, but seems to have been restored sufficiently to lose 46,000 inhabitants by cholera in 1854.

All Sicily Devastated.

The seventeenth and eighteenth centuries seem to have been the most prolific earthquake periods in modern times. In September, 1693, all Sicily was devastated by a series of shocks which destroyed fifty-four cities and 300 villages. Catania, with 18,000 population, was blotted out of existence, and the total loss of life in Sicily was upward of 100,000. In 1783 Messina lost 30,000 by an earth convulsion which lasted only half a minute. Within a period of seventy-five years, from 1783 to 1857, the kingdom of Naples, accredited with a population of 6,000,000, lost 110,000 by earthquake.

In point of loss of life and property the most disastrous earthquake of the last two centuries occurred in Tokyo, then called Yeddo, in 1703. Exact information concerning that gigantic upheaval is not available, but from the most authentic Japanese accounts it appears that nearly 200,000 persons were destroyed. Twenty-eight years later Pekin had its fatal shakeup, with a loss of over 100,000 persons and an immense destruction of property. Neither of these oriental catastrophes was accompanied by greater violence than attends similar events in other countries, and the greater mortality is due to the densely populated area within the zone of shock.

Some other great earth convulsions of the eighteenth century were that of 1746 at Lima, in which 18,000 were lost; that of 1754 at Cairo, with its 40,000 victims, and the memorable upheavals at Quito in 1797 and at Guatemala in 1773.

In 1755 Lisbon experienced its never to be forgotten blow. The great tidal wave which accompanied this earthquake was announced at the mouth of the river Tagus by the sea retiring and leaving the bar perfectly dry. Then a huge wave fully sixty feet in height rolled in from the ocean and overwhelmed the city, which the earthquake had already toppled over. Within a period of six minutes upward of 60,000 persons perished. This Lisbon earthquake was especially remarkable for the great area covered by its activity. Humboldt estimated this area as more than four times the size of Europe. In the track of the disturbance immense mountain ranges like the Alps and Pyrenees were shaken violently. The solid earth was jarred as far north as the shores of the Baltic, and the lowlands of the North sea region were visibly disturbed. Flowing springs in Germany, notably the hot springs at Toplitz, disappeared for several hours, only to return as boiling torrents. The wave of disturbance even crossed the Atlantic, causing phenomenally high tides in the West Indies and even on the South American coasts. It shook the North American continent as far west as the great lakes. In France a deep fissure opened in the earth, and in northwestern Africa many thousand persons were buried in fallen houses.

Seismograph Gave Warning.

It is now the theory that premonitory signs of the recent quake were observed as long ago as November. Central and southern Europe were disturbed, as indicated by the seismograph, and various well defined roarings and even explosions were heard in the vicinity of volcanic heights all over the continent. One marked effect of this impending seismic outbreak was noticed at the German mineral springs of Baden-Elster, where the temperature of the water rose 15 degrees. Until the recent lamentable affair in Italy the seismic record of 1908

MODERN STREET SCENE IN CATANIA, TO WHICH CITY MESSINA REFUGEES FLED, made less of a show than usual. In March there was a disturbance in northern Mexico, near the Rio Grande river, which did not do much damage. On the following day Chiapa, over the Mexican border, was roughly shaken, and there were even a few casualties.

Earthquakes are so infrequent in Africa that some scientists have been inclined to regard the dark continent as immune. This year, however, that theory has been made untenable. Two heavy shocks were felt in the Kongo Free State, almost directly under the equator, covering an area of a hundred square miles.

But the most convincing realization of the insecurity with which we walk the earth has come to the American people through the seismic exhibitions which have occurred nearer home, the horror of April 18, 1906, in San Francisco, the devastating shock of 1902 which wrecked the island of Martinique in a twinkling and the similar visitations on the Carolina coast. Nor does it detract greatly from the insecurity of our position to be told by the scientists that it is only the necessary settling of the earth's crust. "It's a long time settling," we retort rather unamably.

HOME COURSE IN MODERN AGRICULTURE

By C. V. Gregory

Of the Agricultural Division of the Iowa State College
Covering the Course of Study Followed by the Iowa State College
WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THE REPUBLICAN
BEGINNING FRIDAY, JAN. 8

In Installments

The Series Covers Eighteen Lessons, one Lesson to Appear each Tuesday and Friday Until Course is Complete

Following are the Subjects Treated:

- | | | |
|-------------------------------------|---|---------------------------------|
| 1 How a seed starts to grow | 7 The selection of seed | 13 How animals grow |
| 2 How plants eat and grow | 8 Corn growing | 14 Some points on stock feeding |
| 3 Preparing the ground | 9 Weeds and how to combat them | 15 Breeding live stock |
| 4 Water in relation to plant growth | 10 Some insect pests | 16 Farm buildings |
| 5 Leguminous crops and rotations | 11 Bacteria, how they affect the farmer | 17 The farm house |
| 6 How plants are propagated | 12 The selection and care of farm machinery | 18 The business side of farming |

The success of scientific farming with its greatly increased yields has aroused strong interest among farmers throughout the country. So greatly was Governor Deneen impressed with the importance of the subject when he attended the Illinois Corn Show in Springfield recently that he decided to enter the Agricultural School at the University of Illinois to take up the course, as told in the press dispatches. These articles give you at home what the governor gets in college.

Knowledge Worth Many Dollars to the Farmer

Besides the practical value of these articles, they are very interesting, revealing the magic of chemistry as seen in growing things.

Both Governor Hanly and the incoming Governor Marshall could not do a greater patriotic and a fitting duty to the State and its heroes than to recommend, in their respective messages, the erection of a suitable monument to General Pleasant A. Hackleman, whose service to the State and Nation are worthy to be perpetuated to posterity.

After careful investigation the American Sociological Society has come to the conclusion that education has tended to fewer marriages, marriages later in life, fewer children per couple and more divorces. Being unable to show that education is an evil thing, the American Sociological Society is obviously up against it, and will have to change the subject.

The slaughter of 250,000 people and a property loss that is total in a score of cities and villages during the recent Italian earthquake, is something almost too appalling for the human mind to grasp. It exceeds anything since history has been written. And the outburst of substantial sympathy from the whole civilized world is a beautiful illustration of the fact that the true brotherhood of man was never so universal as now.

One of the afflictions the public is called upon to bear every time a year draws towards its close is the number of knaves and cranks who prophecy that the world will come to an end on the last night of the year. Of course sensible people give no heed to such foolish nonsense. But unfortunately, many people are not strongminded and are easily imposed upon by such silly talk, with the result that on the last day of the year there are always a number of people frightened almost to death and who array themselves in white robes to witness the end and hear the sound of the trumpet.

The Republican candidate for governor in Ohio who stood squarely for county local option was beaten by his Democratic opponent, who was non-committal. The case is exactly parallel to that of Indiana. And yet both before and since the election in Ohio counties have been voting dry by big majorities until a total of sixty-two counties have decided to get along without the saloon. The parallel bids fair to be carried out in Indiana also. The strange part is that here in Rush county as well as elsewhere in the State, those that were bitterest against county local option during the campaign are now the loudest in its support.

The American fleet which has just passed through the Suez canal and coaled at Port Said, will change its course by order from the President and proceed to stricken Messina, to assist in policing the distressed region and otherwise lend a helping hand. Of the 15,000 men ready for every duty, at least 5000 a day could be landed to do police and other duty, and from Messina the ships could scatter along the Italian coast to care for the thousands who will soon consume all food at hand. It is a grand mission for these mighty messengers of Mars to carry charity and gather blessings at a time of such dire distress.

Sale of Farm Land.

I will offer for sale on and after January 9, 1909, one hundred and forty (140) acres of the William T. Powell land, situate in Rushville and Jackson townships. Terms of sale made known on application. Sale made on order of the Rush circuit court. IDA M. LOWDEN, Com. Gatea Sexton, Atty. 245-246-251-252

INDIANA POLITICS

ROBERT G. TUCKER.

Indianapolis, Jan. 5.—The messages of Governor J. Frank Hanly and Governor-elect Thos. R. Marshall are both demanding the undivided attention of Mr. Hanly and Mr. Marshall. The governor-elect expects to have his message completed today. Governor Hanly spent the day yesterday collecting data from the various state offices and in conference with the legislative committee which has been investigating the state institutions. He locked himself to all visitors today at his home, and with the assistance of two stenographers, P. J. Flannigan and May L. Nichol, is giving himself up entirely to its preparation.

There are indications that the senatorial contest may be prolonged. Kern's lieutenants are counting now on landing on the second ballot, but if Slack, Hoffman, Menzies and Lamb make good their promises not to withdraw, enough members may be held in line by them to prevent either Kern or Shively from getting a majority. A conservative estimate today of the number of votes each candidate has, follows: Kern, 22; Slack, 10; Shively, 14; Lamb, 9; Hoffman, 9; Menzies, 6. More than that are claimed for each candidate. It is possible that Kern may have twenty-four or twenty-five, but it is not believed to exceed that. To win, any candidate must have forty-two votes. In this estimate the second choice strength of the candidates is not taken into consideration. Judge Joe Shea and Harry Wair, managers for Shively, said today that he had more second choice votes than any other candidate. It is becoming obvious, however, that no candidate is yet within hailing distance of goal and that no one will win while the field is intact. The Democratic members of the legislature are talking of nothing else except the senatorial race. The Republicans, with nothing consoling along that line, are preparing to organize the senate to suit their plans and to get together as harmoniously as possible in the house. With the six willing souls who have entered the Democratic fight for the senate, the point has been reached where friendship cases between them and they are now beginning their wire-pulling process in hopes of winning.

Linton A. Cox, holdover Republican senator from Marion county, expects to introduce a novel bill in the senate—a bill to punish legal voters who willfully fail to vote. Mr. Cox said today that he had been considering the bill for several months and had spoken to a number of his friends about it, and that most of them had believed that it would be a good law. He has drafted it roughly and will likely introduce it. He would fine voters $25 each for failing to vote unless they were too sick to get to the polls.

Throwing His Fortune Away.

Throwing away what one has is not always the only way to lose a fortune. Being unable to see an opportunity, or to grasp it when seeing it, is more often the cause of losing out in the world. A person who feels too sluggish to make the best of time can quickly improve by using Sexine Pills, the great tonic, that is guaranteed for all forms of weakness in men and women. ODDITIES OF THE FOREIGN PRESS

An interesting Exhibit of Newspapers from Many Foreign Lands at the Republican Office

The Republican extends a cordial invitation to the public to examine a collection of newspapers from the most remote parts of the world now on exhibition at the Republican office. We are indebted for these papers to the Chamberlain Medicine Co., of Des. Moines, Iowa, who advertise their medicines in all of them.

Some of these papers bear names of places which required us to recall forgotten geography or to refer to the atlas and hunt the place with a microscope. Some of the papers are particularly curious as they are published in the vernacular or native language which might be likened to the carefully written notes of a shorthand writer.

The collection is as follows:

The Times of Natal, a daily paper published in Pietermaritzburg, Natal, South Africa. Although Natal is considered a comparatively newly settled and developed country, the Natal Times was established in 1851, making the paper fifty-seven years old. It is a mammoth journal of 16 pages and 9 columns to the page. It is a larger paper than the Cincinnati Enquirer. Among the advertisements is noticed that they have moving picture shows, the same as here. In fact everything of a modern and up-to-date civilization is represented in the advertising columns.

The Star, published in the English language is a large 12-page daily, printed at Johannesburg Transvaal, South Africa. In this paper the Transvaal Automobile Club issues a circular headed "Motors and the Public," setting forth the rights of pedestrians and warning motorists.

The South African News, published at Cape Town. The Cape Colony being an old English settlement, the News is patterned after the regulation English newspapers.

De Vriend des Volks (The People's Friend) is a large 8-page paper published at Bloemfontein, in the Orange Free State, South Africa. This paper is printed in the South African Dutch language. We reproduce an item from the column of "Gemengd Nieuws (Mixed News):"

De autoriteiten van Lourenco Marques zinn van plan Lord Selborne feestelijk te onthalen. Regelingen worden getroffen voor een groote jachtpartij.

Among the papers printed in Asia, are the Chinese, which are printed in the well known Chinese characters arranged in vertical lines reading from top to bottom, the lines arranged from right to left. In one of these Chinese dailies can be seen a full-page advertisement of the latest messer characters, largely composed of vertical lines connected by loops at either top or bottom, but rarely at the corners.

Among the Burmese papers are the Burma Herald of Rangoon, Burmah, printed in Burmese characters, which are composed principally of a combination of circles.

The Mandalay Herald is another Burmese paper printed in the English language. This is a sixteen-page paper, quarto size, and apparently printed on a hand press. From this journal we reproduce the following characteristic item:

The Buddhist Lent.—The season of fasting with other restrictions in connection with marriages and giving of pines commenced on Sunday last (July 12), when hundreds of men and women were to be seen vending their way to the different Zayats and Kyangs to do their first Oobok. The period extends to about three months when due observance of their duties as Buddhists is strictly exercised by every Buddhist be whatever their ages. As a race the Buddhist in observing fasting is second only to those professing Moslemism.

The Siam Observer of Bangkok, Siam, is quite a large paper of ten pages. The outside pages are in English and the inside pages in Siaboth.

One advertisement in these characters is of a corporation named "Sandhabhojana Limited." But what will interest Americans more is the following item from this Siamese paper:

Under the heading "A Bet On," the following interesting advertisement recently appeared in the columns of the North China Daily News: "The undersigned has $20,000 to be immediately deposited in the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank that Bryan will be the next President of the U. S. America; odds 5 to 1. William H. (Volcano) Marshall."

Among the personal items is the following:

Luang Phalchitr Sapayadol, Chief Judge of Nakorn Sri Tamara, will be leaving on the 13th inst. for Nakorn.

In another column it is announced that the production of "The Shield" by the Saranrom Amateur Dramatic Association, which was postponed on account of the death of Princess Chumpon, will take place next Sunday at the Dvi Panya theater. Tickets on sale at the Siddhiband store.

All this has the earmark of practically the same degree of civilization as can be seen around here, with the exception of those outlandish names.

The four million of people of India have nearly fifty different dialects or vernaculars, some of the more principal ones being the Bengali, Gujarathi, Hindi, Kanarese, Malayalam, Marathi, Sindhi, Tamil, Telegu and Urdu. Among the papers of India in this collection is the Madras Mail, printed in English and the Swadesamitran, printed in Hindu characters.

The Morning Post of India, printed in the English language, and published at Delhi.

The East Coast News and Advertiser, published at Vizagapatam, a city on the coast of the Bay of Bengal. Even in far-off India the newspaper methods are practically the same as here as is evidenced by the following personal item:

The Rana of Porebhardar, who has been ill for some time, has had a relapse and is in a critical condition.

According to a six-inch double column advertisement in this paper Mr. C. Moonesamy Moodeliar is both a photographer and a coach builder. (A strange combination of trades.)

The Praja Mitra, or the People's Friend, is a small paper published at Karachi, India, in the Gujarathi vernacular, the characters of which are strange indeed.

But the most peculiar and most strangely looking paper is the "Yakil," printed in Urdu characters, which are read from right to left in the Hebrew fashion. The Urdu is a sort of script and is so chaotic in shape that it is impossible to reduce it to the movable type form. Papers printed in the Urdu language are therefore first written out by hand and a plate made by the lithographic process.

The "Oudh Akhbar," printed in Urdu at Lucknow, claims a circulation of 5000. It is said that in order to handle this circulation it requires an office force of 200. Fortunately for the managers, the wages paid to natives are only a few cents a day.

Other papers in this collection are the "Bataviaasch Nieuwsblad," published in Batavia, Island of Java, in the Dutch language. (The language of Miss Roest of the Sexton sanitarium.)

From this paper we copy a Washington news item, which tells about an official by name of Hollis, a somnambulist, who killed his wife by shooting her while asleep, but to get to the details, read the item as it appears in the Java paper:

Slaapwandel.—Te Washington heeft een ambtenaar, Hollis, in slaap zijn vrouw doodgeschoten.

"Hollis, van kindsbeen af een slaapwandelbaar, was een zeer goed schutter en hij had s'nachts bij zijn been een revolver liggen met het oog op de vele inbraken die in de buurt waren gepleegd. Toen nu in den vroege morgen zijn vrouw die opgestaan was om haar kind in de wieg te helpen naar hare kamer terugkeerde, sprong Hollis, nog in slaap overloerd en schoot haar met zijn revolver dood."

The Pinang Gazette and Straits Chronicle is printed on the island of Penang, off the west coast of Lower Siam, and opposite the island of Sumatra, in the Malacca Strait. This paper was established in 1833, and is therefore older than most papers in the United States.

An advertisement in this paper announces that the Penang Band makes the following charges for its services: Dances, 9 p. m. to 2 a. m., $50; dinners, 8 p. m. to 11 p. m., $30; garden parties, 5 p. m. to 7:30 p. m., $30. Transportation extra.

The Ceylon Standard, an English paper printed at Colombo, on the island of Ceylon. The people in this island are black and wear nothing but clouts. Here is a sample advertisement from the Ceylon Standard:

Lease of Mining Rights.
Offers are invited for the lease for a term of 5 years or less, of all that well known Plumbago Land "Galpilagawana," situated at Ragedera, in the District of Kurunegala. Further particulars from Mr. Danton Perera Ratnalke, Proctor, Colombo.

The Commercial Advertiser of Honolulu, Hawaii, and the Hawaiian Star, both papers printed on the same lines as American newspapers.

The Nation Builder, published at Napier, New Zealand, and claims to be the only publication of the kind in the world.

This collection comprises newspapers from every part of the world, and an inspection of them is a revelation to the average American, when he sees the evidence of progress and a modern civilization in far-off heathendom—countries by many supposed to be in utter darkness.

BY THE WAYSIDE

"I've sworn off," he said.

"Sworn off what," she asked hopefully. "Drinking, smoking, gambling or wearing a moustache? Really your mouth isn't so awfully ugly." "None of those madam," he replied frigidly. "I've sworn off swearing off. This is New Year's eve, and it shall pass, and tomorrow shall pass without me registering a single vow concerning the world, the flesh and the devil.

"I resolved last year to go to the church at least once a month. Well, sleeping late Sunday morning was always one of my pet luxuries, and I cannot give it up now. And as for smoking, I couldn't cut that out if I were to corner all the smoke consumers on the market.

"So, to get back to sanity and conservation, I will make no New Year resolutions, except to play square, fight hard, and be a good fellow."

INDIANA TWELVE MILLIONS RICHER

Than it Was a Year Ago Despite the Panic According to Individual Deposits.

SHOW AN ENORMOUS INCREASE

More Than Seven Million Dollars in the National Banks—Other Increases Astounding.

Indiana continued to increase in wealth at an unprecedented rate during the so-called panic year just passed despite the allegations of the political croakers who said on every stump that the State was going to ruin and that this increased wealth is well distributed is shown in the increase of individual deposits in National banks alone saying nothing of State banks, trust companies, private banks and building associations.

A wonderful improvement in financial conditions in Indiana last year is indicated by advices received by the controller of the currency. These advices show the State of Indiana begins the new year under the most favorable auspices, with a complete restoration of confidence and with banking operations entirely recovered from the financial disturbances of the early part of the year just closed.

Based on reports to the controller from Indiana, there has been an enormous increase in resources and deposits of National banks in Indiana during the last year.

Probably the most notable improvement is in the increase of individual deposits. This increase amounts to the enormous sum of $7,564,889. The individual deposits are the deposits of many and the increase represents thousands of accounts that did not exist a year ago.

The total increase of individual deposits include an increase of $1,150,345.89 in the deposits of the national banks of Indianapolis and an increase of $6,414,543.41 in the deposits of the national banks of Indiana outside of the State capital.

The increase in the total resources of the Indiana National banks is equally satisfactory and striking. This increase amounts to $12,597,418.14 during the year, of which the Indianapolis National bank shows an increase of $6,414,543.41 in the deposits outside of Indianapolis an increase of $10,133,575.47.

AMUSEMENTS

Large crowds were in attendance at all of the shows at the Grand theater last night. The same pictures will be shown tonight.

There will be skating at the Krammer rink tonight.

Good crowds are on hand at every performance at the Vaudet theater. "The Sailor's Sweetheart" and "The Spooks Through the Moving" are the two film subjects. A new illustrated song will also be offered.

* PERSISTENCY IS

* BOUND TO WIN. *

* There is no better stimulant for business than persistent advertising. The successful merchant keeps pounding away day in and day out and year in and year out. People have come to be guided in their buying by the manner in which the goods are advertised and these people can be reached in no other way save through the columns of the newspaper. In Rushville and surrounding territory there is no better way to reach the people than through the Daily Republican. Remember it is the fellow who keeps everlastingly at it that wins success.

JEWELRY THIEF MADE A GETAWAY

Was Sent on Robbing the Silverware Chest at the Windsor Hotel.

PROBABLY FRIGHTENED AWAY

No clew has been found to the thief who made away with the jewelry at the Windsor hotel New Year's day, when the proprietor and wife were away for the day. Instead of only one stick pin being missing, two rings belonging to Mrs. John Freeman were also taken. In Mrs. Freeman's room it was found that the thief was frightened away while at work on a chest containing a lot of valuable silverware. He had taken several screws out and was prying the lid with an oriental sword taken from the wall when some one probably came through the hall and scared him, he left the job half finished.

SOCIETY NEWS

Connersville News: Miss Katherine Derbyshire is spending a few days at Rushville, the guest of relatives and friends. Monday evening Miss Derbyshire attended the wedding of Miss Luella Amos to Mr. Charles Crumpacker, a nephew of Representative Crumpacker of the Tenth district. Miss Amos is a graduate of Indiana University and a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, and has a large circle of friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Morris of Union township entertained with a turkey dinner on Christmas day the following guests: Mrs. Morris' parents Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Clure of Boone county, Ky., Mr. Stanley Cluttenbuck of Indianapolis, Will Morris and family of Union township, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clure of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clure entertained at their home in West Third street on New Year's day with a turkey dinner, celebrating Mr. Clure's birthday anniversary. The following guests were present: Mr. Clure's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Clure of Boone county, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Morris of Union township.

The wedding of Miss Luella Amos and Mr. Charles T. Crumpacker was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Amos, south of this city, yesterday evening at eight o'clock. Miss Mary Amos of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Horton, living south of this city, and Miss Katherine Derbyshire of Connersville were the only guests present besides the immediate members of the Amos family. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Walter Frazer of Lexington, Ky., the simple ring ceremony being used. The bride and groom left last night for Indianapolis, in which city they will make their home. Mr. Crumpacker will enter law school.

The Royal Rushers will entertain their parents at their home in East Seventh street tonight. This is the first of a series of receptions which will be given this week by the young ladies during their house party. Their young gentlemen friends are expecting one evening some place along the line.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT.

John Glossen of Glenwood was arrested by City Marshal Price this afternoon for disorderly conduct upon the streets while under the influence of liquor.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD EDITOR.

(Connersville Courier.)

Connersville is the home of the smallest magazine in the world and the youngest magazine editor in the world.

It is also the home of the only magazine printed and bound entirely by hand, without the aid of type characters or devices used in the ordinary course of printing.

The name of the unique publication is "Smith Magazine." The editor is Leslie Smith, eight years old son of Dan Smith. The January number of the magazine is just of the "press." The cover is emblazoned with a Christmas bell, done in colors with an ordinary colored lead pencil. The contents embrace a story entitled "The Silent Castle," an advertisement for Carter's inks, a poem entitled "The Broom," one joke a comic poem entitled "Wanted."

Master Smith uses simply a pencil and pen, makes all his own illustrations and writes in all the matter. Each copy of the "magazine" constitutes a separate task, involving no end of labor on the boy's part. The publication is issued monthly and is sold at five cents a copy. The pages are sewed together by hand.

The young man has caught the idea of indexing his magazine. On the illuminated cover page he displays the titles of the leading stories as follows: "The Silent Castle, page 1; The Broom, page 3." The first named is a serial and is continued in the current number.

"MOST HANDSOME WOMAN."

(Columbus Republican.)

A Columbus woman entered a bank with a check made payable to the "most handsome woman in Columbus."

bus." The check was signed by the woman's husband, and she blushing explained that it was a Christmas present. The bank officials first declared that she would have to indorse the check by signing her name as it was written on the front, but she said she was too modest to do this and was afraid some other woman might protest the check by claiming to be handsomer than she. The matter was finally settled by allowing her to indorse the check with her own name.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak," the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

The Younger Set

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS,

Author of "The Fighting Chance," Etc.

Copyright, 1907, by Robert W. Chambers

A little later Nina sat up in the hammock, daintily effacing the traces of tears. Selwyn was saying: "If this is so, that Ruthven man has got to stand by her. Where could she go if such trouble is to come upon her? To whom can she turn if not to him? He is responsible for her—doubtless so if her condition is to be—that! By every law of manhood he is bound to stand by her now. By every law of decency and humanity he cannot desert her now. If she does these—these indiscreet things, and if he knows she is not altogether mentally responsible, he cannot fail to stand by her! How can he, in God's name?"

"Phil," she said, "you speak like a man, but she has no man to stand loyally by her in the direst need a human soul may know. He is only a thing—a man at all—only a loathsome accident of animated decadence."

He looked up quickly, amazed at her sudden bitterness, and she looked back at him almost fiercely.

"I may as well tell you what I've heard," she said. "I was not going to at first, but it will be all around town sooner or later. Rosamund told me. She learned—as she manages to learn everything a little before anybody else hears of it—that Jack Ruthven found out that Alixe was behaving very carelessly with some man—some silly, callow and probably harmless youth. But there was a disgraceful scene on Mr. Neergard's yacht, the Niobrara. I don't know who the people were, but Ruthven acted abominably. The Niobrara anchored in Widgeon bay yesterday, and Alixe is aboard, and her husband is in New York, and Rosamund says he means to divorce her in one way or another. Ugh, the horrible little man, with his rings and bangles!"

She shuddered. "Why, the mere bringing of such a suit means her social ruin, no matter what verdict is brought in. Her only salvation has been in remaining inconspicuous, and a sane girl would have realized it. But"—and she made a gesture of despair—"you see what she has done. And, Phil, you know what she has done to you, what a mad risk she took in going to your rooms that night."

"Who said she had ever been in my rooms?" he demanded, flushing darkly in his surprise.

"Did you suppose I didn't know it?" she asked quietly. "Oh, but I did, and it kept me awake nights worrying. Yet I knew it must have been all right—knowing you as I do. But do you suppose other people would hold you as innocent as I do? Even Eileen—the sweetest, whitest, most loyal little soul in the world—was troubled when Rosamund hinted at some scandal touching you and Alixe. She told me, but she did not tell me what Rosamund had said—the mischief maker!"

His face had become quite colorless. He raised an unsteady hand to his mouth, touching his mustache, and his gray eyes narrowed menacingly.

"Rosamund—spoke of scandal to—Eileen?" he repeated. "Is that possible?"

"How long do you suppose a girl can live and not hear scandal of some sort?" said Nina. "It's bound to rain some time or other, but I prepared my little duck's back to shed some things."

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made, a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I can cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

"I—I don't know why. I think—I suppose that it is because I do not love you—that way."

"Yes," he said, "that, of course, is the reason. I wonder—do you suppose that—in time—perhaps—you might care for me—that way?"

"I don't know." She glanced up at him fearfully, fascinated, yet repelled. "I don't know," she repeated pitifully. "Is it—can't you help thinking of me in that way? Can't you be as you were?"

"No, I can no longer help it. I don't want to help it, Eileen."

"But—I wish you to," she said in a low voice. "It is that which is coming between us. Oh, don't you see it is? Don't you feel it—feel what it is doing to us? Don't you understand how it is driving me back into myself? Whom am I to go to if not to you? What am I to do if your affection turns into this—this different attitude toward me? I—I loved you so dearly—so fearlessly."

Tears blinded her. She bent her head, and they fell on the soft, delicate stuff of her gown, flashing downward in the sunlight.

"Dear," he said gently, "nothing is altered between us. I love you in that way too."

"D—do you really?" she stammered, shrinking away from him.

"Truly. Nothing is altered. Nothing of the bond between us is weakened. On the contrary, it is strengthened. You cannot understand that now. But what you are to believe and always understand is that our friendship must endure."

"I want to ask you something," she said, "merely to prove that you are a little bit illogical. May I?"

He nodded, smiling.

"Could you and I care for each other more than we now do if we were married?"

"I think so," he said.

"Why?" she demanded, astonished. Evidently she had expected another answer.

He made no reply, and she lay back among the cushions considering what he had said, the flush of surprise still lingering in her cheeks.

"How can I marry you," she asked, "when I would—would not care to endure a—a caress from any man, even from you? It—such things—would spoil it all. I don't love you that way. Oh, don't look at me that way! Have I hurt you, dear Captain Selwyn? I did not mean to. Oh, what has become of our happiness? What has become of it?" And she turned, full length in the swing, and hid her face in the silken pillows.

He looked down at her, slowly realizing that it was a child he still was dealing with—a child with a child's innocence, repelled by the graver phase of love, unresponsive to the deeper emotions, bewildered by the glimpse of the mature role his attitude had compelled her to accept. That she already had reached that milestone and for a moment had turned involuntarily to look back and find her childhood already behind her frightened her.

Thinking perhaps of his own years and of what lay behind him, he sighed and looked out over the waste of moorland where the Atlantic was battering the sands of Surf point. Then his patient gaze shifted to the east, and he saw the surface of Sky pond, blue as the eyes of the girl who lay crouching in the cushioned corner of the swinging seat, small hands clinched over the handkerchief, a limp bit of stuff damp with her tears.

"There is one thing," he said, "that we mustn't do—cry about it, must we, Eileen?"

"No-o."

He was silent, and presently she said, "I—the reason of it—my crying—is b-because I don't wish you to be unhappy."

"But, dear, dear little girl, I am not."

"Really?"

"No, indeed. Why should I be? You do love me, don't you?"

"You know I do."

"But not in that way."

"N-no; not in that way. I w-wish I did."

A thrill passed through him. After a moment he relaxed and leaned forward, his chin resting on his clinched hands. "Then let us go back to the old footing, Eileen."

"Can we?"

"Yes, we can, and we will—back to the old footing when nothing of deeper sentiment disturbed us. You know how it is. A man who is locked up in paradise is never satisfied until he can climb the wall and look over. Now I have climbed and looked, and now I climb back into the garden of your dear friendship, very glad to be there again with you—very, very thankful, dear. Will you welcome me back?"

She lay quite still a minute, then sat up straight, stretching out both hands to him, her beautiful, fearless eyes brilliant as rain washed stars.

"Don't go away," she said. "Don't ever go away from our garden again."

"No, Eileen."

"Is it a promise—Philip?"

Her voice fell exquisitely low.

"Yes, a promise. Do you take me back, Eileen?"

"Yes, I take you. Take me back, too, Philip." Her hands tightened in his; she looked up at him, faltered, waited, then in a fainter voice: "And—and be of good courage. I—I am not very old yet."

An hour later, when Nina discovered that there, together, Eileen, curled up among the cushions in the swinging seat, was reading aloud "Evidences of Asiatic Influence on the Symbolism of Ancient Yucatan," and Selwyn, astride a chair, chin on his folded arms, was listening with evident rapture.

IMPORTANT MEETING TODAY

Indiana Cattle and Swine Breeders Gather at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Jan. 5.—The annual meeting for 1909 of the Congress of Indiana Industrial and Breeders' Associations, convened here today. The congress includes in its membership the Indiana Hereford Breeders' Association, the Indiana Jersey Cattle club the Indiana Short Horn Breeders' Association, the Indiana Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Association, the Indiana Wool Growers' Association, the Indiana Poland China Swine Breeders, the Indiana Chester White Swine Breeders, the National Mule Foot Hog record Association, the Indiana Swine Breeders' Association, the Mutual Insurance Companies' Union of Indiana, the Indiana Live Stock Breeders' Association and the Indiana Corn Growers' Association.

The Indiana delegate State Board of Agriculture met this morning at 10 a. m. The officers are E. S. Tuell of Corydon, president; Clem Graves of Bunker Hill, vice president; Charles Downing, secretary; J. W. LaGrange of Franklin, treasurer, and E. H. Peed of Newcastle, superintendent. An address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Bookwalter, and there were addresses by President E. S. Tuell, Governor Hanly and David M. Parry. This meeting was held in Room 12 at the state house. The other associations making up the congress will hold sectional meetings at different points all over the city.

HE ADMITS MURDER

But Says Crime Was Committed by His Wife.

Denver, Col., Jan. 5.—That Volly Mann was murdered was admitted by John Harry Dale Smith to the police here, but according to Smith the crime was committed by Mrs. Smith. Smith is on his way from Los Animas, Col., to Ogallala, Neb., for trial. His wife is being held there now as a witness. Smith says that while tramping across the country with his wife they met Mann in Nebraska.

Vicksburg, Miss., Jan. 5.—In spite of the state wide prohibition law which went into effect on January 1, Vicksburgers can get all they want to drink. Within 150 feet of the city proper, or the Louisiana side of the Yazoo canal, a saloon has been opened on a barge. Patrons have swarmed across the narrow canal in launches and skiffs, the saloon proprietor furnishing free rides to the thirsty. Sheriff Sevier, of Madison parish, La., has a deputy stationed on the barge to preserve the peace.

PRACTICAL SYMPATHY

America Rises to the Need of Suffering Italy.

MUNIFICENT SUM FOR RELIEF

With an Agreeable Unanimity of Feeling, Congress Votes $800,000 for the Relief of Earthquake Sufferers, the President's Message Calling Attention to Italy's Dire Extremity Meeting With Instant Response—Vigorous Handclapping in the House as the Bill Providing This Bounty Was Sent on Its Way.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Bountiful provision for the earthquake sufferers of Italy was made by congress yesterday, and that, too, by unanimous vote. In the house there was vigorous handclapping as the bill carrying the appropriation was sent on its way. The munificent sum of $800,000 was granted almost immediately after the reception in both houses of a message from the president calling attention to the calamity and the pressing need for aid for the stricken people of a sister nation.

Only the fact that the national legislature was adjourned for the holiday recess when the earthquake occurred prevented earlier action, although by the president's direction and with confidence of congressional approval, supplies aboard the naval ships Celtic and Culgoa intended for the battleship fleet, were diverted and ordered delivered as quickly as their speed capacity could take them to the scene of suffering and want. No such generous help ever was extended to a stricken people by this government before. The legislators, anticipating the president's message, and filled with a sympathetic desire to lend their votes to any proposition which would bring relief, were early in their seats and prepared to take immediate action.

Confident that the further contributions of the American public will justify its assumption of responsibility in authorizing Ambassador Griscom at Rome to charter and load with supplies a relief vessel and also to transport refugees, the American National Red Cross advanced the necessary means wherewith to meet the suggestion of the ambassador and his committee of Americans in Rome. Over $340,000 has been collected through the Red Cross alone, of which $60,000 represents the advance referred to, one-half of which the Christian Herald has agreed to raise.

Because of the belief of the prime minister of Italy, expressed in a message, in response to a cablegram from the president to Ambassador Griscom, transmitted last Saturday, that the American fleet of battleships will arrive at the scene of the disaster too late to be of great assistance, conferences are being held with the view to rearranging their sailing program, especially as it has been determined that the fleet's visit to the several Italian ports while preparations were making for its appropriate reception would be ill-timed under the circumstances.

A CALL TO HOOSIERS

Governor Hanly Asks People to Aid Earthquake Sufferers.

Indianapolis, Jan. 5.—In a formal proclamation to the people of the state, touching the need of the earthquake sufferers, Governor Hanly says: "The need is so urgent and so great that the people of Italy cannot meet it alone. They must have the assistance of all peoples. The emergency is such that I hereby proclaim their need, and call upon the people of Indiana to contribute to a fund for the relief of the stricken but surviving inhabitants of the unfortunate island, and ask them to act quickly and generously. That the funds contributed may be effectively handled and promptly forwarded, I recommend that they be sent to the Indiana Red Cross Society, Indianapolis, Ind., in care of the treasurer of said society, Mr. James W. Lilly, Indianapolis, Ind."

AN IRREPARABLE LOSS TO WORLD

Messina's Ancient Architecture Overthrown.

RELICS OF THE CENTURIES

Remnants of the Ancient Architecture

Which Marked the Stages of Messina's Twenty-Six Centuries of Tragic and Tumultuous History Are Now but Dust and Fragments—Ruins Not to Be Swept by Fire Until Records and Treasure Have Been Recovered, but to Avoid Pestilence, City of the Countless Dead Will Be Isolated.

Messina, Jan. 5.—Instead of burning the ruins of the city to prevent a disastrous epidemic, it is now understood that the authorities have decided to clear Messina of every living person and surround it with a cordon of troops in order to keep it absolutely isolated. The reports of bombarding the ruins to prevent an epidemic are considered premature. Even after five or six days, the living have been taken out of the wreckage.

Millions in money and valuables and important records which are buried deep must first be removed. The American officials, headed by Major Landis, the attaché at Rome, with the aid of sixty soldiers, are engaged in the task of clearing up the ruins of the American consulate at Messina in order to recover, if possible, the bodies of Vice Consul Cheney and his wife.

Although confused and without system, the work of rescue has been carried on bravely by night as well as by day. Searchlights on the warships flood the ruins with their rays and give light to the salvage parties. The correspondent has made two tours about the wrecked city through streets piled twenty or thirty feet high with debris. It was a wilderness of ruin a mile wide and two miles long. Beautiful churches, splendid villas in the foothills, hospitals, barracks and the university all shared the common lot. Two-thirds of the magnificent Norman cathedral, the pride of Messina, is in ruins and little or nothing remains of the relics of Phoenician, Greek, Roman and Saracen architecture which marked the stages of Messina's twenty-six centuries of tragic and tumultuous history. The loss to the world will be irreparable.

Here and there the correspondent encountered salvage parties at work. They were digging at the instance of some distracted wife or mother who imagined she heard a voice, but usually there was no echo to the pathetic calling. One party was trying to dig out a girl whose crying could be heard plainly, but as the correspondent watched, there was a sudden cave-in and thereafter silence. In many places decomposing arms and legs protruded from heaps of masonry and plaster.

Curious freaks of the earthquake were everywhere to be observed. Standing walls had fallen out, exposing one tier of rooms above another, in which nothing seemed to have been disturbed. Pictures hung straight on the walls, lamps were on tables and vases and flowers on mantel pieces. In one place, two buzzards, their beaks full of carrion, were sunning themselves on a window ledge over the dead body of a woman whose wealth of black hair covered her face and shoulders. Dogs and cats are killed by the soldiers whenever caught feeding on the dead. The buildings that best resisted the shock were the old royal palace, now the prefecture, and the archbishop's palace, where ten of the inmates lost their lives.

Although the air in Messina is heavy with the stench of putrifying bodies, several groups of Sicilians have camped out in the cleared spaces of the city and obstinately refused the invitation of the authorities to move away. The survivors of the disaster are so dazed and worn out that they are quite incapable of describing their experiences connectedly.

The Night Rider Trial.
Union City, Tenn., Jan. 5.—Both sides concluded their testimony in the night rider cases and the arguments began today. Just how long before the cases of the eight defendants reach the jury is problematical. The court failed to limit the time of argument of counsel, but intimated that he thought a day and a half for each side would be ample. There are five attorneys on either side and not one is willing to let the case end without making an argument.

Accused Give Bond.
Pittsburg, Jan. 5.—The seven councilmen accused of accepting bribes and conspiring to secure bribes, and the two former bankers accused of giving bribes, all of whom were arrested two weeks ago upon complaint of the Voters' League, have been indicted by the grand jury. All of the accused gave bonds and these bonds will stand until the court hearings.

Tribesmen Seize Ispahan.
Teheran, Jan. 5.—The fighting at Ispahan continues, Bakhtiari tribesmen having succeeded in making their way into the central quarters.

DOINGS IN CONGRESS

Short Sessions Marked Reopening Day in Both Houses.

Washington, Jan. 5.—With practically no opposition, the senate passed the house bill appropriating $800,000 to aid the Italian earthquake sufferers. Senator Bailey of Texas declared that such appropriations were unconstitutional, but did nothing to delay congressional action.

The sum of $400,000 was appropriated by a senate bill for the purchase or construction of a building in Paris as the home of the American ambassador. The bill will at once go to the house for its consideration.

Jan. 14 was designated for consideration of the omnibus claims bill, which carries an appropriation of $2,300,000.

The Day in the House.

After having been in session a little over an hour the house of representatives adjourned out of respect to the memory of Representative Davey of Louisiana, who died during the recess.

Numerous messages from the president on various subjects were read. The most important were a message recommending aid for the Italian earthquake sufferers, and a message responding to a resolution asking information as to what the president meant in his annual message regarding the secret service. The relief asked for the stricken Italian people was quickly and unanimously given, the sum of $800,000 being appropriated, while the secret service message was referred to the special committee having to do with the matter, after Mr. Griggs of Georgia had moved to have it returned to the president, which motion he later withdrew.

BIDS FOR WIRELESS PLANT CLOSE TODAY

Navy Equipment to Be Best in the World.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Today marks the expiration of the time set by the navy department for the receipt of bids for the equipment of the vessels and shore stations of the United States navy with new wireless telegraph apparatus.

When the contract for the construction of the apparatus is satisfactorily fulfilled the wireless equipment of our navy will have no peer on earth and sea. The department will be able to communicate quickly with any ship of the navy, no matter where it may be stationed.

The contract calls for the building and equipment of a high powered wireless telegraph station, the first of a number of similar stations, one of which is to be at San Francisco, with a radius of 3,000 miles; the installation aboard each ship of two sets of instruments capable of sending messages a distance of 1,000 miles and receiving messages from a distance of 3,000 miles, with a wireless telephone having a radius of 100 miles. The contractor will be allowed to use any system of wireless telegraphy he wishes.

BIG SUIT REOPENED TODAY

Government's Action Against Union Pacific Railroad.

New York, Jan. 5.—Hearings of the government's dissolution suit against the Union Pacific railroad were reopened in this city today before Examiner Sylvester G. Williams.

One of the points which the government is using in the suit against the railroad is the arrangement whereby the Southern Pacific became a half owner of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Santa Fe and a traffic agreement was made whereby each side agreed not to change its rates without the consent of the other for ninety-nine years.

The issuance of stock and bonds in 1901 to finance the purchases of Northern Pacific stock, the subsequent negotiations and the Chicago and Alton deal also figure in the suit.

Cattle Rustlers Brought to Time.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 5.—Advices just received from Mesa Grande, forty miles from here, tell of a pitched battle thirty miles from there between a gang of cattle rustlers and members of a vigilance committee. Two Mexicans, an Indian and a white man, all members of the band, were shot and killed, and one vigilante was seriously wounded.

The Last of Her Time.

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 5.—Mrs. Harriet Estes, who is said to have been the only surviving daughter of the revolution, is dead here, aged eighty-seven years. Mrs. Estes was born in Elbridge, N. Y., the daughter of James Dunham of the Fifth Connecticut regiment.

$45,000 for Minor Heir.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 5.—M. J. Savage, owner of Dan Patch, world's champion pacer, has become the owner of Minor Heir, last year's pacing sensation. The amount paid to P. C. Isaacs of Johnstown, Pa., was $45,000.

Pittsburg, Jan. 5.—J. B. F. Rinehart, former cashier and vice president of the defunct Farmers and Draymen's National Bank of Waynesburg, Pa., which failed for about $2,000,000, is on trial in the United States district court.

PERJURY CHARGE IN ROCKEFELLER CASE

Defendant in Libel Suit Applies For Warrant.

New York, Jan. 5.—The action for criminal libel brought on complaint of John D. Rockefeller, jr., against S. S. Carvalho, Bradford Merrill and E. H. Clark, officers of the Star Publishing company, which publishes the New York American, was begun in the Center street police court before Magistrate Moss. Upon being sworn as the first witness Mr. Rockefeller testified that the article published in the Dec. 17 issue of the American in which he was accused of having caused a system of peonage to be adopted by a certain breakfast food company of Chicago, was false in every particular. He had not set foot in Chicago, he declared, for nearly two years. Clarence J. Shearn, attorney for the defendants, submitted a retraction printed on the day following the publication of the original story as evidence that the libel had not been committed with malicious intent. Mr. Shearn then cross-examined the witness and secured from him an admission that while he had sworn in his original complaint that he knew "of his own personal knowledge" that the defendants were officers of the Star Publishing company, that knowledge had in reality been based simply "upon information and belief." Mr. Shearn contended that this constituted perjury on the part of Mr. Rockefeller and promptly applied for a warrant for his arrest on that charge.

Assistant District Attorney Garvan protested vigorously against the charge being taken seriously, but Mr. Shearn insisted and Magistrate Moss took the matter under advisement. The question of malicious intent was also left for future adjudication next Monday.

Governor Hughes of New York has tendered the state insurance superintendency to George W. Schurman of New York city, a brother of Jacob G. Schurman, president of Cornell university.

INDIANA SOLONS GET BUSY TODAY

Informal Caucus the Preliminary Act of Session

JOB HUNTERS ARE BUSY TOO

With the Arrival of the Members of the State Legislature at the Capital Preliminary to the Convening of the General Assembly, Thursday, There Are Many Hopeful Ones Who Have a Wistful Eye on the Plum Tree—Senatorial Contest and Speakership Question the All-Engrossing Matters of Discussion.

Indianapolis, Jan. 5.—With but one full day intervening until the formal opening of the general assembly of Indiana, the hotel lobbies are beginning to take on an air of animation peculiar to the legislative season in Indiana.

The Denison hotel, headquarters for the Democrats, has taken on life anew. The Claypool also, which will be the headquarters of some of the Republicans, shows many signs of statesmanship. There is being held this afternoon a sort of preliminary, informal caucus of the Democratic members, more for purposes of better acquaintance than for a discussion of the business of the coming session. The formal caucus of the Democratic representatives will be held tomorrow night, at which time an agreement will be reached on the question of the speakership and the organization of the house.

B. F. Shively was the first candidate for the United States senatorship to open headquarters. His suite of rooms on the second floor of the Denison was opened Monday morning by Harry R. Wair of South Bend. All of the other candidates for the senatorship had made reservations at the Denison, however, and have their headquarters open in full blast today.

Representative James Garrard of Vincennes and Thomas Honan of Seymour, candidates for the speakership of the house, have headquarters at the Denison. It looks as if it will be a fight to a finish between these two candidates, who are acknowledged to be in the lead in the speakership race. Dr. L. L. Coble, another candidate for the speakership, has been at the Denison two or three days. He says he is in the race to stay, and those who know him declare that he will "stay" regardless of circumstances.

M. J. Carroll of Crawfordsville and Charles E. Crawley of Sullivan, candidates for the clerkship, have been in the city for several days and are letting no grass grow under their feet when it comes to work.

At the Claypool hotel, Harry Styner of Lafayette was on hand early. He is a candidate for assistant secretary of the senate. So far as is known, W. W. Huffman of Anderson has no opposition in the race for secretary of the senate, and it is understood that there is a plan on foot among some of the Republicans to have Huffman secretary and Styner assistant secretary. Otto Deal of Elkhart is another candidate for assistant secretary. He was principal journal clerk in the senate two years ago. Styner two years ago was reading clerk for a short time until he was called away by sickness to his family.

Oscar E. Bland of Linton and William E. Springer of Ellettsburg, members of the committee on committees of the senate, have rooms at the Claypool. This committee will hold a meeting today to arrange the committees of the senate.

Mr. Bland said that this committee would attempt to get in touch with some of the Democratic senators and find out what the latter would like to have in the way of minority committee appointments in the senate. Senator Bland goes on the theory that while the Republican committee on committees of the senate has charge of the work of making up the committees, it would be nothing more than right to give heed to the desires of the Democrats of the senate. He has heard that some of the Democratic senators would like to offer suggestions in regard to the appointment of minority members of the senate committees.

"All this talk about unseating the lieutenant governor and carrying things in a high-handed way in the senate is bosh," said Senator Bland. "We are disposed to do the fair thing. Of course the Republicans are in the majority in the senate and propose to take advantage of that situation, but we do not intend to impose on anyone."

NEWS FOR DYSPEPTICS

Some Condensed Items from All Over America that Show that Dyspepsia Can Be Easily Cured

Whiteland, Ind.

"I was a chronic sufferer from dyspepsia for years; tried several doctors without relief. Began using Mi-o-na tablets, and after several weeks' treatment I found thorough relief, and am able now to eat anything. I recommend Mi-o-na to anyone afflicted with stomach trouble."

—Mrs. D. A. Brewer. Buffalo, N. Y.

"Allow me to congratulate you on your discovery of Mi-o-na. I had several of the best doctors in the city, but none seemed to do me any good. I vomited frequently. I had this trouble four years. I took one box of Mi-o-na tablets, and now eat most anything without distress."

—Mrs. Mary Becker, 1990 Baily Ave. Bridgeton, N. J.

"I would be dead if it wasn't for Mi-o-na. One year ago I weighed only 100 pounds; now my weight is 159 pounds. I eat everything I want—cabbage, ham, fried potatoes—everything doctor said not to eat or I would die."

—Mrs. Carrie Vanaman. Mountain Island, N. C.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for 15 years; spent $300 for medicines, everything failed to do any good until I found Mi-o-na. That has cured me, and it will cure others that suffer."

—L. R. Nonket.

F. B. Johnson & Co. sells Mi-o-na tablets, the dyspepsia remedy that is making such surprising cures throughout America for 50cents a box, and he guarantees them to cure acute and chronic indigestion, vomiting from any cause, and sea or car sickness.

Happy New Year Everybody

This house of good shoes is very grateful for the patronage it has enjoyed during the year that is past, and we trust that we've earned confidence by deserving it.

Good bye Old 1908.

You've given us many new friends, and made us more solid with our old ones. You have proved once more that such merit as lies in our Splendid Footwear, together with our excellent and reliable service, is a combination bound to win. For the new Year we shall redouble our efforts to keep this Shoe House in the position it now holds.
